About the Family Leadership Training Institute

The Family Leadership Training Institute (FLTI) is a public-private partnership offering tools to individuals for civic engagement. The Colorado Family Leadership Training Institute, housed at The Colorado Department of Public Health and Environment, is directed by a diverse staff of family leaders. FLTI features a research based curriculum that is offered in local communities. The curriculum includes sessions such as:

- Thriving with Diversity in the Group Process
- What is Public Policy?
- Social and Economic Trends Affecting Children and Families
- How Local Systems Work and How to Interact with Them
- Parents as Change Agents

The class is FREE to participants

Family Leaders are partners in the community for positive social change.

FLTI is a first-of-its-kind family civics program designed to develop family leaders.

Family Leaders are:

- Culturally diverse
- Invested in outcomes
- Familiar with policy development
- Poised to offer a unique perspective
- Dedicated to issues regarding children, youth and families

Family Leaders reflect the cultural diversity of local communities. With comprehensive knowledge of their community, they share recommendations that are culturally respectful and family-centered.
